

DEVELOPMENT CHARGES INFORMATION PACKAGE RATES AS AT JULY 1, 2025

With over 900 high-technology businesses and a legion of international and national head offices to its credit Markham is “Canada’s High-Tech Capital”. Markham’s population is poised for tremendous growth over the next decade, and has well-planned attractive streetscapes, residential subdivisions, business parks and natural spaces which sets it apart from other communities and makes it a desirable place to both work and live.

Development charges should be taken into consideration in the planning of any residential or non-residential project. Detailed below are some of the key characteristics of development charges and the manner in which they are calculated, imposed and collected.

What are development charges?

On November 23, 1989 the Development Charges Act was introduced to bring greater uniformity to the widely varied lot levy practices of the past. Development charges replaced lot levies as the primary way for Ontario municipalities to raise funds for required services and infrastructure improvements resulting from development.

Every development application is evaluated to determine to what extent development charges are applicable.

Development charges are now governed by the Development Charges Act, 1997.

Do I have to pay?

You may be required to pay development charges for any residential or non-residential development if you are:

- erecting a new (not replacement) building(s)
- making an addition or alteration to an existing building(s) which increases the gross floor area or number of units
- redeveloping a property or properties which result in a change of use

Certain exemptions exist within the by-laws. Therefore, it is recommended that you investigate whether your property is eligible for an exemption. To find out if exemptions are applicable to your project, please contact Shannon Neville (905) 477-7000 ext. 2659 or sneville@markham.ca at the City of Markham or check with each jurisdiction listed in the section “Who Do I call for more information?”

Who collects these charges?

The City of Markham collects development charges and education development charges on behalf of itself and three external jurisdictions. Charges are collected on behalf of and remitted to the Region of York, the York District School Board and the York Catholic District School Board as required by law. Each jurisdiction is responsible for setting the rates of its own development charges and for determining any exemptions.

When are the charges collected?

For subdivisions, a portion of the total development charges is required at the time the subdivision agreement is executed. The balance is collected at the building permit stage.

All development charges must be paid in full prior to the issuance of a building permit.

What is an area specific development charge?

An area specific development charge is applied by the municipality in areas where services and infrastructure benefit a specific geographical area. As a result, municipal development charges are more equitably distributed.

Landowners may enter into front-ending or credit agreements with the municipality to provide infrastructure works and services instead of paying all or a portion of the applicable area specific charge.

How much can I expect to pay?

The amount of development charges you are required to pay depends on several factors, including:

- Type of development - Is it residential or non residential? Is it a single detached dwelling or apartment?
- Size of development - For residential developments, a combination of the site area (in net hectares) and the number and type of dwelling units.

For non-residential development, a combination of the floor area and site area (in net hectares).

- Location of Development - Where your property is located will determine if an area specific development charge is applicable.
- Indexing of charge rates - Each jurisdiction indexes its charges from time to time.
- Exemptions - Development charges are not intended to be collected more than once for the same service. Exemptions may be permitted if a service has already been provided, the development replaces some of the floor area eliminated via demolition, or as approved by the affected jurisdiction.

In all instances you must establish that the proposed development is entitled to an exemption. You should check with each jurisdiction to determine if you qualify for any exemptions.

Who do I call for more information?

Each jurisdiction passes its own by-laws to regulate the administration of their development charges. Copies of Markham's development charge by-laws are available online by navigating to:

Calculation Sample and Worksheet

On page #7 is a sample residential and on page #8 is a sample non-residential calculation together with a worksheet so that you may calculate an estimate for your project. Should you need assistance with your calculation please contact Shannon Neville (905) 475-4742 at the City.

The sample residential calculation is for a single family home on 0.05 hectares of land in Area Specific # 5 Armadale.

The sample non-residential calculation is for an Industrial/Office/Institutional class building with 2,503 m<sup>2</sup> of gross floor area on 0.926 hectares of land in Area Specific # 5 Armadale.

Page 9 of this handout provides details of the various Area Specific areas in the City. If you are unsure of the actual Area Specific area your project is in please contact Shannon Neville (905) 477-7000 extension 2659 or sneville@markham.ca at the City. We require either the civic address or legal description of the property to confirm the Area Specific area.

To complete your calculation you will require the following information:

Residential Projects

- Type of units (singles/semis, multiple dwelling unit, small apartments, large apartments)
- Number of units
- Size of lot(s) in net hectares. Net hectares mean the area of land in hectares net of all lands conveyed into public ownership.

Non-residential Projects

- Gross floor area (GFA) in square meters (m<sup>2</sup>)
- Main purpose of the building (industrial, office, institutional, retail)
- Size of lot(s) in hectares

For definitions and other information related to the calculation of the development charges, please review the City's by-laws at:
